

2016 ANNUAL Report
JOINT NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES
(JONAPWD)

JANUARY 2016-DECEMBER 2016

Executive Summary

The National Executive members and management of JONAPWD under my humble leadership has continued to keep faith with the social contract and mandate entrusted in our hands since August, 2014 by ensuring that the interests and aspirations of the over 25 million Persons With Disabilities in Nigeria continue to receive priority attention of governments at all levels, the private sector, local and international development agencies, the media, mainstream CSOs, professional bodies and other critical stakeholders. With the combined efforts of our 36 state chapters, 6 disability clusters and several organizations of persons with disabilities, the National leadership of JONAPWD has provided the veritable hob and front for engagement even at international frontiers; ensuring that the voices and interests of Nigerians with disabilities are given appropriate recognition and respect.

Although our main goal of achieving the enactment of a National Disability Law is still far-fetched, we have largely succeeded in ensuring that disability issues have gained significant national attention across sectors including: political/electoral inclusion and participation, inclusive education, accessible health services, accessible physical infrastructure, transportation, financial inclusion, etc. Nonetheless, recent developments especially in our National Assembly may rekindle our hopes for an eventual passage of the National Disability Bill very soon.

Reports from our state chapters have also been encouraging. While states including Lagos, Plateau, etc are consolidating on implementation of their disability laws and policies, others including Ogun, Edo, Akwa-Ibom, Kwara, etc are making great and progressive efforts towards enacting or strengthening their disability laws and policies across key sectors like education, health, youth development, etc.

The year 2016 was thus a year of progressiveness and continuity on the several gains we made in 2015; strengthening and continuing our advocacy for a National Disability Law, progressing on our efforts to secure total inclusion of voters with disabilities in electoral and political process, sustaining our advocacy for inclusive and accessible basic education for children with disabilities, working for proper financial access and inclusion for persons with disabilities across the country, and working for the proper inclusion of persons with disabilities in the social investment and protection programmes of governments at state and Federal levels.

In 2016, manifestations of increasing public awareness and appreciation of disability issues in Nigeria was recorded as more state and non-state actors reached out to, and engaged with JONAPWD and other organizations of persons with disabilities (OPDs) at national and state levels. The international profile of JONAPWD as the umbrella body for all OPDs in Nigeria swelled significantly; offering real promises of better socio-economic opportunities for Nigerians with disabilities in the nearest future.

In this Communication, we consider it necessary to once again share with you some of JONAPWD's key activities in 2016 and their impacts in contributing towards attainment of sustainable inclusion for PWDs in Nigeria.

1. Advocating for Inclusive Basic Education for Children with Disabilities in Nigeria:

On the inception of this current JONAPWD leadership, JONAPWD applied for and received a 4-year grant of Forty Million Naira (N40, 000,000 only) from the USAID, through its Strengthening Advocacy and Civic Engagement (SACE) programme in Nigeria to conduct advocacy for inclusive basic education in 3 locations: FCT Abuja, Akwa-Ibom and Kwara states respectively. This grant was also intended to support the rebuilding of JONAPWD'S institutional and management systems; as well as rebrand and reposition the Association as a truly development-oriented disability rights and advocacy organization.

The overall goal of the project is to "Improve the inclusion and access of children with disabilities to quality basic education in Nigeria through effective stakeholders' advocacy engagement" for policy influencing, capacity building and public awareness creation. Having observed that about 3 million Children with Disabilities (representing about 90% in line with UNICEF projections) are out of school in Nigeria, JONAPWD aver that Children with disabilities lack access to an inclusive school environment, hence, declare that all children, including those with disabilities, have a right to quality education. Thus, this project is designed to address the accountability and transparency gaps in the mainstreaming of inclusive practices in the implementation of Universal Basic Education in Nigeria. We are therefore committed to engaging with all critical stakeholders to ensure that:

1. The National Policy on Education reflects access, inclusion and participation of children with disabilities in all aspects of Education system.
2. Regular school environments are inclusive to accommodate the learning needs of children with disabilities.
3. Children with disabilities have access to quality, functional and effective basic education.
4. All discriminatory practices against Children with disabilities in basic education are completely eliminated
5. Raising awareness, building alliances, partnerships and capacities of critical stakeholders on issues of inclusive basic education

2016 marked the second full year of the 4-year project. Within the year under review, JONAPWD Successfully;

- Validated Baseline Survey report. (Stakeholders Validation Meeting)
- Analyzed baseline survey report for the production of factsheets, policy briefs, the MAISE poster and baseline survey report
- Produced and distributed IEC materials to critical stakeholders

This is symmetrical with our zest to building alliances towards engendering inclusive and accessible schools around project focal states.

2. Following-up on the National Disability Bill:

In 2016, the resolve by JONAPWD and other prominent OPDs to follow-up advocacy on the Nigerians with Disabilities Bill payed-off as the Bill was passed by the both houses of the National Assembly (Senate and House of Representatives), however, efforts are currently been garnered to harmonize the different versions of the Bill passed by both houses of the National Assembly before presidential assent.

This advocacy process for the Bill received significant support from the USAID's Strengthening Advocacy and Civic Engagement (SACE) programme in Nigeria. SACE supported a 3&2-day Stakeholders Meetings in Abuja and Lagos respectively with a view to drawing-up an Advocacy Action Plan towards ensuring that the Bill is passed and signed into law as soon as possible. Very high level meetings were held and attended by stakeholders from both the demand and supply actors with a view to getting everyone's buy-in for the Bill and ensure its passage and signing into law.

SACE also supported JONAPWD to hold a grand reception for the victorious Nigeria's Paralympic athletes at the 2016 RIO Olympics, on the 20th September, 2016 at Barcelona Hotel, Abuja. JONAPWD leveraged on this window of opportunity to further increase her voice on the need for the speedy harmonization and ascent to the Nigeria Disability Bill. The event was another vantage to advocate for the harmonization and ascent to the Nigeria Disability Bill. The Paralympic athletes were officially integrated into the ongoing advocacy campaigns on the Nigeria Disability and the need for inclusive society in Nigeria.

JONAPWD has been working with the SSA To the Nigerian President on Disability Dr. Samuel Ankali who has given his full support to this advocacy process and have promised that President Muhammodu Buhari has given his full support and willingness to sign the Bill into law when it reaches him. and for the first time, leaders of the Nigerian disability community have come together and are all speaking with one voice under the JONAPWD platform to form a common front to engage other stakeholders with regard to the National Disability Bill.

3. Following-up the Independent National Electoral Commission for the Development of INEC's National Disability Policy for Electoral Inclusion for Citizens with Disabilities:

The on-going Stakeholders Consultative Forum on the development of INEC's National Disability Policy for Electoral Inclusion for Citizens with Disabilities which began in 2015 with the support of the International Foundation for Electoral Systems (IFES) was continued in 2016. While the Zonal stages of the Stakeholders Consultative Forum was concluded, an Expert Meeting to ratify the second draft of the policy document was held in December, 2016 in Nasarawa state. INEC is expected to ratify and adopt the policy for full implementation in 2017.

JONAPWD's coordination of the Zonal Consultative Forum across the six Geo-Political Zones helped to ensure that PWDs made meaningful contributions towards the development of the draft policy. If fully implemented, the INEC National Disability Policy is expected to revolutionize access, inclusion and participation of PWDs in the electoral process.

4. JONAPWD's Increasing Influence across National and International Disability Communities:

Within the National frontiers, JONAPWD gained more recognition by key state and non-state actors across different sectors. Within the civil society circles, JONAPWD was elected into the Governing Board of the Transition Monitoring Group (TMG), a foremost civil society coalition of non-governmental organizations in Nigeria concerned with issues relating to democracy, elections and good governance in Nigeria.

The annual theme provides a framework for considering how persons with disability are excluded from society by promoting the removal of all types of barriers; including those relating to the physical environment, information and communications technology (ICT), or attitudinal barriers. This has been occurring since 1992 when the General Assembly proclaimed 3 December as the International Day of Persons with Disabilities.

In her remarks, the National President, thanked all staff members for their resilience and commitments to deliver on set objectives. She averred that year 2017 is promising as we look forward to a very productive year.

Conclusion:

The task of making JONAPWD a truly development-oriented disability-rights and advocacy organization has no doubt been very daunting especially in the face of very limited human, material and financial resources as well as a generally dysfunctional institutional and organizational governance structure. Our challenge in managing the affairs of the Nigerian disability community is further stretched by the largely discriminatory and exclusive nature of the Nigerian society, the very low level of awareness and capacity on disability issues and the abject poverty which pervades the disability community.

Our hope for progress and change is however heightened by the latest show of unison which this current administration has been able to foster among prominent leaders in the Nigerian disability community especially over our quest to secure the enactment of the National Disability Law within the shortest possible time. We are also strengthened by the reasonable increase we have been able to achieve in the level of public awareness on disability issues on the part of government and other stakeholders. We are optimistic that in 2017, we shall build strongly on these achievements; ensuring that not only is the National Disability Law enacted, but also that JONAPWD is better positioned to support other DPOs to promote and protect the rights and inclusion for all PWDs in Nigeria.

We are however implored to continually contribute our quota distinctively to the advancement of the course of persons with disabilities in Nigeria, despite constraints. Our priority steps for 2017 shall include that;

- Continuity and progress on all on-going projects: Advocacy for the Enactment of the Nigerians with Disabilities Law; Advocacy for Inclusive and Accessible Basic Education for Children with Disabilities; Advocacy for Inclusive and Accessible Electoral Process for Persons with Disabilities; and Implementation of the CBN Financial Inclusion Policy and MSMEs Development Fund for PWDs.
- JONAPWD urgently requires an accessible office space which is to be outsourced by January 2017.
- There would be State based Support Visit by the National President and her Team in 2017.
- There shall be State level capacity building for Stakeholders in the Disability Community come 2017 i.e. Train a pool of State based advocates that would serve as State level Think-tanks.
- The JONAPWD Stakeholders Congress will come up by June 2017.
- A JONAPWD Constitution Review Committee is to be set up basically to review the JONAPWD Constitution before the Congress.

- JONAPWD National Secretariat to coordinate the production of ID cards for all registered Persons with Disabilities in Nigeria.

Long Live JONAPWD

Long Live FMWASD

Long Live the Federal Republic of Nigeria

Greetings to All.

Ekaete Judith Umoh
